Statement of Reasons for Allowance

Present claims 4 and 9 are allowed over the closest prior art for the following reasons -

1. It is noted that the present claims 4 and 9 are amended to recite a specific process involving deuteration under an atmosphere of light hydrogen gas.
2. Koike et al teach optical resin material wherein it is desirable to have high transparency i.e. transmittancy in the operating wavelength of an optical device which can be accomplished by deuteration, Kobayashi et al teach esterification of norborneol with (meth)acrylic chloride or an ester exchange reaction with methyl (meth)acrylates, Sakunaga et al disclose copolymer of methyl methacrylate and norbornyl methacrylate and the deuteration products of these polymers, and Kato et al teach deuteration of methyl methacrylate in the presence of Pd catalyst using heavy water i.e. deuterium oxide as a source of deuterium sans hydrogen gas.
3. Furthermore, while the reference of Hirota et al (US 2005/0177015) teach deuteration using non-activated Pd carbon in the presence of hydrogen gas and deuterium oxide i.e. heavy water (paragraph 0027-0028 and 0031); and Ito et al (US 2006/0116535) teach deuteration in the presence of deuterium oxide and palladium carbon under an atmosphere of hydrogen gas (example 1), dates are not valid for a proper rejection under 35 U.S.C. § 102.
4. Thus, the closest prior art, viz., Sakunaga et al (US 4,732,716), Kobayashi et al (US 4,986,648), Koike (US 5,767,200), Kato et al (US 4,874,890), taken individually or in combination, does not disclose or suggest deuteration of norborneol or norbornanone.

by reacting with heavy water, in the presence of palladium catalyst, under an atmosphere of hydrogen gas.

In light of the above, it is clear that rejections of record are untenable and thus the present claims are passed to issue.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
